

The Clinical Dental Technicians Association UK (CDTA UK) exists to encourage high standards of professional practice in all aspects of clinical dental technology in the UK. It is committed to continued professional development (CPD) and education to enhance standards of dental care in the United Kingdom.

Our mission

The CDTA UK will always put the best interests of the patient first by supporting its members to provide the best possible dental care to the UK public.

We will promote the professional role of the CDT/Denturist both within the modern dental team, to external stakeholders and the public.

We will create an environment for professionalism by the three pillars of learning, innovation and communication.

The CDTA will strive to promote the best standards of denture care in the UK.

Promote the role of the Clinical Dental Technician/Denturist and will lobby regulators and other stakeholders to recognise the skill and professional abilities of our members.

Promote and enable continuing professional development to help maintain our members clinical excellence and service.

Provide guidelines for best practice.

Promote an ethical code that always puts the best interests of the patient first.

Provide guidelines for best practise and provided an ethical code that always puts the best interest of the patient first.